Dear Friends,

I have always been interested in different approaches to the season of Lent and Holy Week. This year, two seemed worth sharing. One of them, Melanie touched on in her sermon on February 14, the First Sunday of Lent, which focuses on “being kind” and three simple commitments. The other is in an article on Maundy Thursday – a wonderful reflection as we prepare for Holy Week.

This Lent...

Be kind.

- 1) Don't be a Jerk. Sure you are having a bad day. Don't pass it along.
- 2) Honor the absent. Stop talking about people behind their backs. It will get back to them and hurt them - and you.
- 3) Give people the benefits of the doubt. Everyone is struggling with something. Remember that.

Being Kind is better for you - and everyone else - than giving up chocolate.

James Martin, SJ

A Reflection on Maundy Thursday

By Rev. Maren C. Tirabassi from Off Balance through Lent and Easter

“On that Thursday with the rough wooden table and savory lamb and bitter herbs, there’s the basin of dirty water where hammertoes have been washed, not to speak of rough old walking heels, bunions and corns, and arches high and delicate as a girl’s, by the teacher on his knees with the smudgy towel. Some kind of example, that”!

“On that Thursday with the broken flat loaf and the last cup of red wine, bloody as Passover, bloody as a smeared door, he dips his hand in a bowl of meat and oil with the one with the damning bagful of silver under his chair who goes out into the dark. But that one, too, got a piece of the bread”.

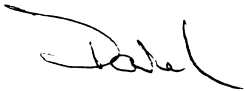

“On that Thursday in the night shade of leafy garden, where flowers and olive trees rinsed by spring rain are fragrant it’s easy to sleep and get away from it all. Nobody really wants to hear lonely prayer or sobs in the throat. Eyes are so heavy”.

“We wake startled like we have fallen in our dream and it smells like angels have been here. No, it’s only the greasy smoking of torches. There is a swirl-sound of capes, the castanet of hidden weapons, and, anonymous as a lynching, we shuffle around—cowardly, guilty, lethal, and without names. On that Thursday, there’s the kiss”.

“But is’ not over till the cock’s crow, the tears, the morning light”.

As we continue our journeys in the Season of Lent, I pray that this season will deepen your lives in Christ and lead you into the joys of Easter.

Peace,

Daniel

EPISCOPAL CITY MISSION

Each month at the city and county detention centers different churches volunteer to host the birthday party for any child that has a birthday during that month. Emmanuel will go to the County Detention Center in March.

Meet at church on March 11 at 5:15 and carpool to the County Detention Center on Brentwood Blvd, just south of Shaw Park. The party begins at 6 pm and lasts 55 minutes. We serve pizza, soda, Ted Drewes and cake. If you would like to help please email Mary Jane Kuhn at kuhnconstruction@sbcglobal.net. The more the merrier!

PEACE MEAL PROJECT

What is Peace Meal? Peace Meal Project began in 2006 as a free fellowship meal for all at St. John's Tower Grove. It's called Peace Meal because it is a small piece of the puzzle when it comes to addressing poverty, inequality and loneliness. "Sharing a fellowship meal together brings us closer to the Reign of God that we hope for –a community of justice, peace, and dignity for all people".

Ten various churches volunteer to help make Peace Meal happen every week. Emmanuel is one of seven Episcopal churches who support Peace Meal Project.

Volunteers are needed from Emmanuel to work at the Peace Meal at St. John's in Tower Grove.

The hours are from 2-6, or any part of this that you can do. Usually we divide it from 2-4, 4-6, or 2-6 if you can do it. We prepare and cook the food, which has already been purchased, set up the dining room and serving table, serve the food, and if possible, visit with some of the guests. The meal is open to the neighborhood and the homeless. Skills needed? If you have prepared any meal at home or at Emmanuel, you qualify.

Please contact Jim Groetsch, jgroetsch@earthlink.net, or Peggy Schroeder, Peggy.Schroeder@outlook.com.

Dates Emmanuel is scheduled:

March 19 May 28 August 6 October 15 and December 21

Lenten Faith Quest Discipline

The children in FQ have been given a UTO box to "count their blessings" throughout Lent. United Thank Offering is an ongoing ministry of the Episcopal Church that encourages us to remember our blessings and to show our "thanks" by putting coins in the "blue box".

Each week the children are told about one of the ministries that UTO has funded this year. So far they have learned about a school that didn't have any playground, and a city garden in Indianapolis that is worked by volunteers and feeds the hungry.

Boxes will be collected in church on April 10.

Julia Bullock Concert update

Julia Bullock will certainly feel the love from Emmanuel when she performs at the Sheldon on Wednesday, March 30. There are already 66 parishioners signed up for tickets and we will be a force to be reckoned with, filling the entire back center section of the main floor.

I'm writing to discuss transportation. A number of people have asked if there will be transportation provided. The answer is no; we're not renting buses to take us there. The easiest solution for those who want a ride would be to look at the sign-up list on the bulletin board outside the dining room and contact someone on the list to ask for a ride.

Failing that, we can carpool from Emmanuel's parking lot. If you don't want to drive and have not made arrangements with someone from the attendance list to provide your transportation, please contact me. Likewise, if you are able to provide transportation for someone that night, please let me know how many extra guests you can take in your car.

Ann Marie Ruhlin (amruhl@sbcglobal.net)

Have you noticed the acolytes wearing their bright, shiny new albs? Oh, wait. They're new, but not shiny. It's Lent! And their new albs are appropriately somber in keeping with the spirit of Lent. You may recall an earlier article in The Angelus describing our goal of replacing the bright white albs our acolytes normally wear with more somber linen ones—just for the Lenten season.

We purchased 20 of these albs, at a cost of $1950. So far, we have received contributions from parishioners totaling a little over $600. If you'd like to contribute to this effort to add a new dimension to our worship service, please send a check to the church office with a notation indicating it's for

Care of Body, Mind and Spirit

Caring for one aspect of our being impacts the rest as well. During this series patient, providers, and public health advocates share in their journeys toward health and wholeness of self, family and community.

March 6 – Sophie Lively, Deaconess Anne corps member, and intern at Missouri Health Care for All will lead us in a discussion about “Healthcare Legislation and How it Affects Body, Mind and Spirit”.

March 13- Dr. Katherine Poole-Jones, Associate Professor of Art History at Southern Illinois University-Edwardsville, will present images of Holy Week and the Resurrection, and facilitate a discussion. With her expertise Katie will help us appreciate not only the artistic significance of the paintings that depict this most holy season, but lead us to a deeper appreciation of the spirituality of these events.

A CITY DIVIDED

Housing Polarization in St. Louis

A City Divided: Housing Polarization in St. Louis has been made possible in part by a major grant from the National Endowment for the Humanities and is conducted in partnership with the Missouri Humanities Council.

In this two-day symposium, local and national speakers address issues related to housing segregation and its lasting impact on the region. See the reverse of this sheet for a listing of speakers. Books by the speakers are available for purchase in the Museum Shop.

LENTEN LABYRINTH WALKS

“Make me to know your ways, O God; teach me your paths.” Psalm 25: 4

Donna Erickson has put together Saturday morning Lenten Labyrinth Walks. There are 8 permanent labyrinths in St Louis. They are in different parts of the city/county, in different patterns and created using a variety of materials. Walking most/all should provide a rich variety of experiences. Donna has designed a ‘program’ of moving from the outer circles of St Louis geography, moving toward the ‘center’; almost like the loops of a labyrinth itself. She will be walking at 9AM, on Saturdays. Rain or shine. If you’d like to join her-or create an experience that works for you– contact the office or Donna at

Mar 5

The Mercy Center 2039 North Geyer Rd, Frontenac

80’stone and recycled rubber mulch. Chartres pattern.

Mar 12

Dayspring Baptist Church, 1001 Municipal Dr, Town and Country

(frontage road along Hwy 270, accessible from Clayton and Mason Roads). 40’ granite resin; Chartres labyrinth.

Mar 19

First Presbyterian Church 7200 Delmar, University City

24’ brick and grass; on west side of the church. Ravenna pattern. Open 24/7

There is no “right” way to walk a labyrinth. It can be used for prayer, discernment, healing, self-knowledge; some find the labyrinth especially helpful in times of loss and transition. It can helpful to do some brief journaling prior to entering the labyrinth, naming the identifying the current issues/struggles in your life and what you are seeking spiritually. One approach is to think of the walk as having a three-fold path.

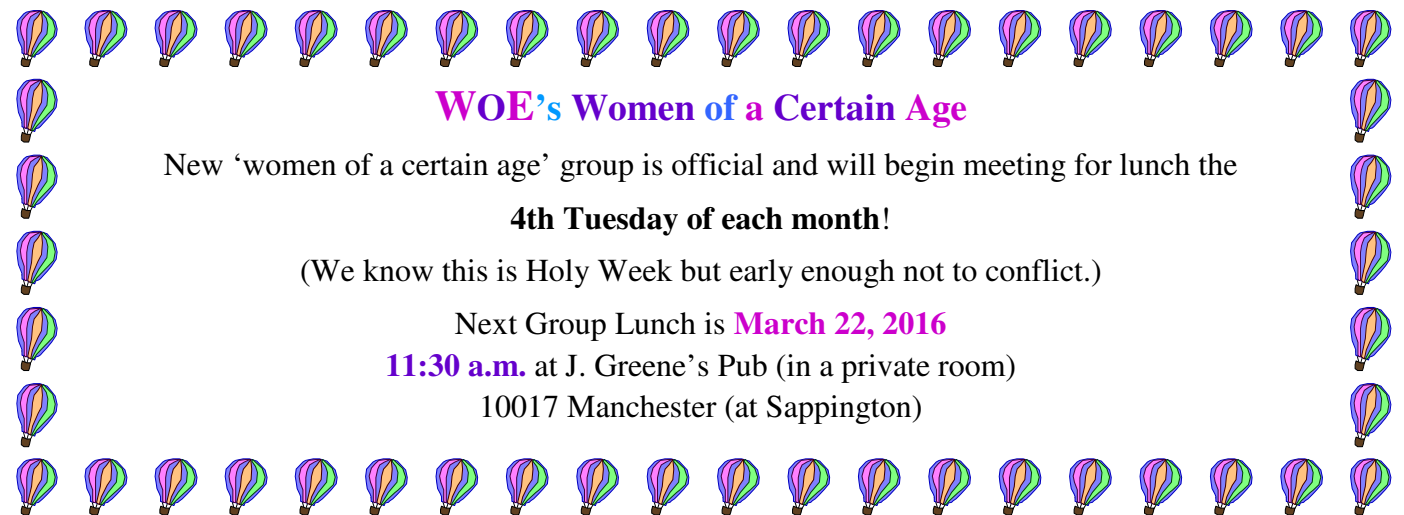

THE WAY IN: Release. The way in is a time of letting go.

AT THE CENTER: Receive. Rest. Take as much time as you need. Stand, Sit, Kneel or lie down.

THE WAY OUT: Return. Follow the path back out the way you came in. This is a time of integrating whatever you received or learned, and returning to the world.

After you have completed the walk, you may want to ask “God, how can my experience here help me understand my life?” You might find it helpful to spend some time journaling your answer to that question and your experience of the walk.

After Lent, Donna would love a chance to get together with anyone who walked the labyrinths, either in community or singly, to talk about our experiences. For carpooling or other questions, feel free to contact the office or Donna Erickson donna_erickson@att.net or 314-961-3896.
